YEARBOOK STAFF

Welcome to the many hours of enjoyable memories and pictures you will spend with this, our 1971-1972 yearbook. I hope you will enjoy viewing this fun-filled, memory-packed book as much as the Committee and I enjoyed putting it together. Yes, it was fun, but it was also difficult. Especially when we first started- it took us a while to "get into the right gear" and start moving. Once we began it wasn't bad though. Ideas and more ideas kept the whole committee interested in what they were doing.

I hope you like our ideas too because we wanted to make this yearbook something different; something more picturesque; something special!

Finally, I would like to thank my committee for their many hours of help and their many "brain-waves". I would also like to thank the other classmates who volunteered their services.

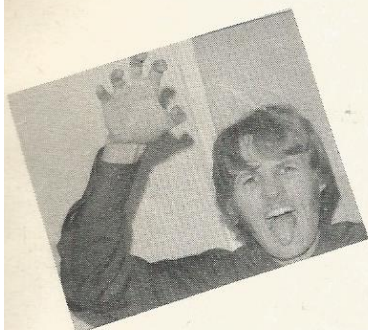

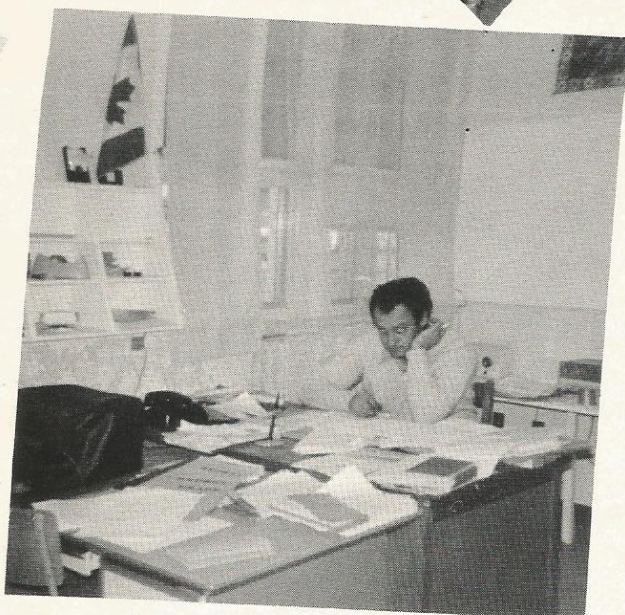

So long, and may the world be blessed with peace!

CAROL TROTTIER

Though our little Carol has been around for many years now, there are still many who say they don't really know her. Above all else they say: never underestimate the powers of a woman, especially Carol's. She can hit as hard as any guy. Her reason for all this strength is because she has to live with her many brothers. Carol has a bright outlook on life- she must as she is smiling most of the time .

Her future plans have not been set forward as yet but I'm sure she will be a success if she strives for high ideals. Best of luck, Carol

DARLENE COCHRANE

For the full length of her school days, she has been in the local school. Grade X saw her confronted by Mr. Cantwell; this in her opinion could not have been a worse mishap. For her last three years, there have been several friendly(?) arguments between the two. More than once, her Irish temper got in her way but to Mr. C. it only became more interesting for himself.

Oh well that only made school life more thrilling eh Darlene?

Her future plans are to attend Campion College for a teaching certificate. Good luck!

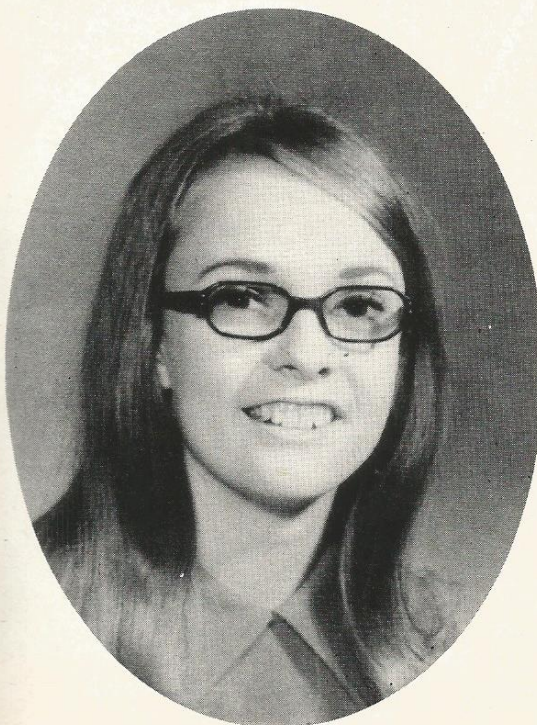

DOROTHY BOUTIN

Volleyball is her specialty as she has been on the high school team for as many years as they would let her.

Her interests lie mainly in the grocery line for some reason or other. Someday she will probably be a great clerk.

Dorothy has been a heavy pusher for co-operation within the school. In most activities which were going on, she always had an upper hand to make the best of it.

Best wishes go out to her in whatever field she takes.

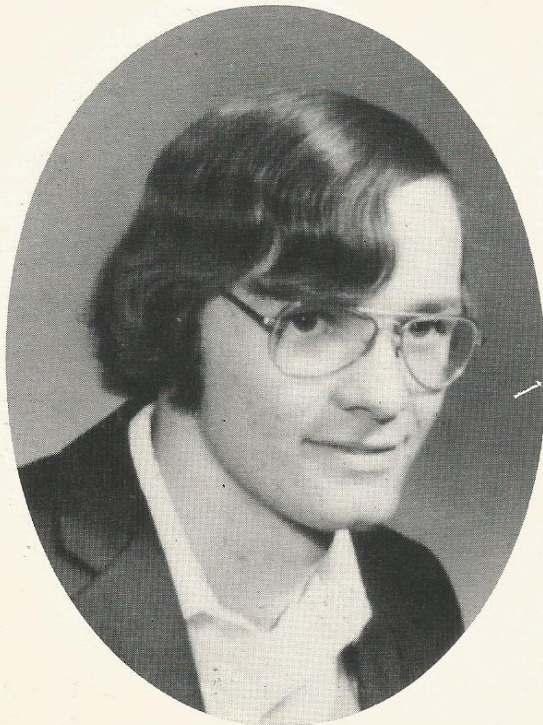

DARLENE COUPE

Val Marie School has seen only five years of Darlene. Despite this, our big graduating class would not seem the same without her; after all we would then only be five. She, like D. Cochrane, has had many arguments with our great Math teachers (Mr. C) Her and Larry were a known table tennis couple. After some practice, the two became quite good. Right, Darlene?

This fall Darlene is continuing her education. She is going in for Dental Nursing. All the best in the future!

LARRY CARLETON

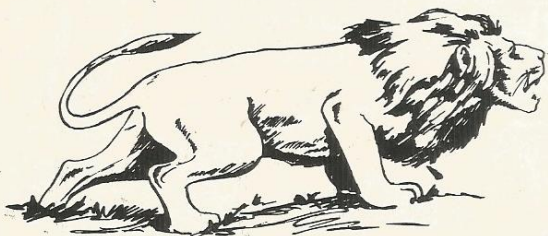

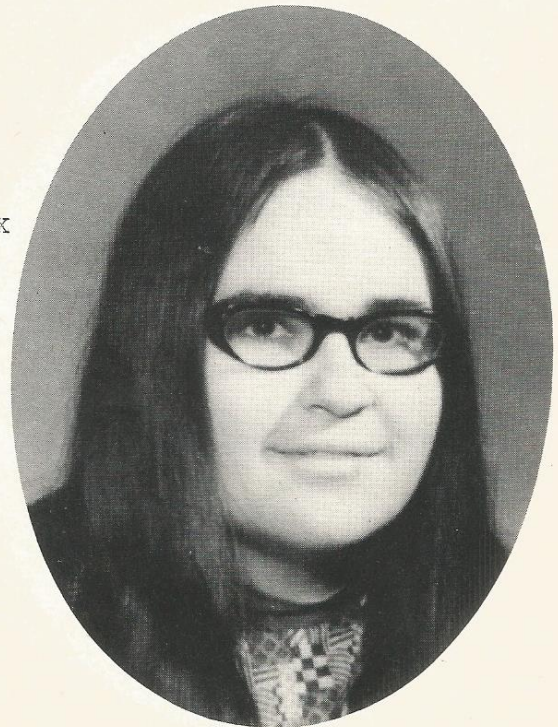

He has also been with us for the last five years. Time sure passes fast eh man? We're sure Larry enjoyed his years here and prospered from them. And in his final here he even developed a taste for sunflower seeds- way in the back of the room. Something new happens every year. Of course, everybody knows of Larry's wizardry (but don't ask him to try and fix his tapeplayer). So next year he's going to the Sask. Tech. Institute in Moose Jaw. No more tapeplayer bills.

NOELLA BERGERON

Noella is one of the Val Marie specials. She's been here since Grade 1 (except for a brief sojourn to Ponteix but what the heck). With Noella around, there's no such thing as a dead class. Dull classes were always brought to life by Noella's keen humor. Maybe she should be a doctor.

Whatever her choice of lifestyle we wish her luck and watch out all you devils out there!

Graduation

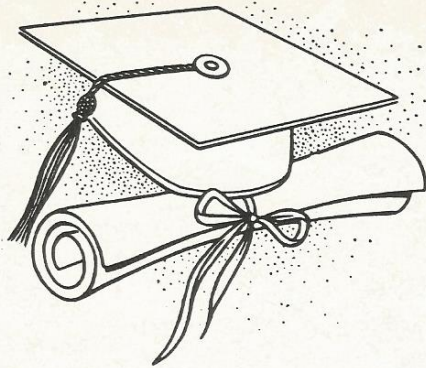

I don't mean to be intentionally funny about the Graduation but look at it from the viewpoint of the Graduates. They are through school. No, you don't see any sombre expressions on their faces. Not likely. So why speak of sombre congratulations? Who's in the mood at this time of year? Well, anyway, the Graduation was a resounding success. Things went smoothly from the very first. Everybody knew where the school was and nobody got lost- no natural catastrophes- no lambs from China. And the banquet went on as scheduled. The meal itself was the last word in gourmet dining (think about it for a while) and everybody seemed satisfied by it. But things were not as complacent as they appeared. While stomach-filled contentedness prevailed about the banquet tables, chaos reigned supreme behind the scenes. In the teachers' lounge were to be found us banquet directors, the food and the dirty dishes. We directors ran out of punch. Steven Grant made a 440-yd. dash downtown and bought some Sprite. They'd have to like it or lump it. We ran out of dessert dishes. If we didn't get some more dishes, one table would have to do without dessert. Couldn't let that happen! Everybody took off in different directions. In the end everyone ate dessert. Another thing: the ham didn't taste right. We couldn't feed that to the banqueters so we ate it ourselves (thoughtful lot we were).

The Commencement Exercises followed at 8:00 P.M. We asked one graduate what she thought of the Exercises. She yawned, "What'd you say?" but she exaggerates. Actually, they were thrilling, especially for the Graduates. After all, what is more exciting than that precious moment when you're up there on the stage; when the eyes of Val Marie are turned upon you; when that piece of beribboned paper is being ever so slowly handed to you... and you fall off the stage- klurk- right on your head. Actually, that calamity did not befall any of the Graduates. They were all fairly steady.

Yeah, the exercises were alright (a few too many push-ups perhaps, but....). Part of the program involved skits which detailed the lives of the Graduates when they "grow up". Larry Carleton is fated to be a pig farmer and a dauntless foe of all tax collectors. Dorothy Boutin has in store for her a life of a storekeeper in need of fullproof burglar system. Darlene Coupe has a promising future as a Hollywood starlet waiting for her (if only she could find the right director). Carol Trottier shall find herself on an Oklahoma ranch with six-shooters and all. Noella Bergeron shall be a housewife, complete with a loving husband, a malicious landlord and those wonderful reruns of "The Edge Of Night". Darlene Cochrane will find herself in a zoo... er, schoolroom, rather generously spreading enlightenment among eager young minds. The rest of the exercises were made up of speeches. The speechmakers were: Mr. Kwasney, Mr. Richard Hahn (Guest of Honour), Larry Carleton (English Valedictory), and Noella Bergeron (French Valedictory). The speeches were educational, interesting and invigorating.

And now the Graduation is over. That long awaited moment is passed and a new life beckens. Ah yes, there are the Grads now, riding over an anthill down into the sunset. They seem to be smiling from ear to ear...

Valedictory Address

I was honoured when I was chosen to express the English Valedictory here tonight, but somehow I don't feel that I earned the spot. My fellow students thought it would look really nice if the two vals were done by one girl and one boy. Seeing that I don't take French and that I'm the only guy graduating, I feel that I was just appointed.

My education in Val Marie started five years ago when they began bussing us from the Orkney school. It wasn't very hard for us to adjust from a small school to this one but one thing we found out was that we received much more homework in high school.

Throughout the years here, I have witnessed many changes; in teachers, pupils, friends and in the school itself.

Many fellow classmates left here to attend bigger and better-equipped schools which I really can't blame them for doing. However, there are some who couldn't put up with schoolwork. These became drop-outs. To tell you the truth, I don't feel very sorry for those who quit because what's a school for if it isn't to attend and learn?

If a person took a quick glance into the past, he may wonder what we are all doing here tonight. Some of us had to write out the Webster's Dictionary three or four times; some had to write essays during the noon hours and some of us even had expulsions. The main reason we are here is because we had a good beginning. Our parents knew the value of an education and pushed us on everyday of the school year and tried their hardest to get us to do our homework. Well, at least they tried.

Now, I'd like to say something about us Grads. Never have such a group of Graduates worked so hard and received such poor marks. It only goes to show what we could do if we had a little ambition.

We may be leaving behind scratched desks, dirty floors and demolished books but we are leaving.

Many classes like this one are going to take care of the world from now on so for my last words tonight-in whatever we do from here on in, we will succeed. So keep that in mind and let no one tell you otherwise.

-Larry Carleton

French VALEDICTORIAN

C'est une joie et un honneur pour temoigner au noms des finissants, nos sinceres remerciements a tous ceux qui nous ont aides durant notre carriere scolaire.

Il y a douze ans que nous avons commences le grade un avec Soeur Suzanne. Ces douze annees ont ete longue et difficile mais avec l'aide de nos devoues, nous avons reste avec nos etudes et maintenant la fin est presqu'ici. Oui, c'est la fin; mais c'est aussi le bebut, car autre monde nous attend.

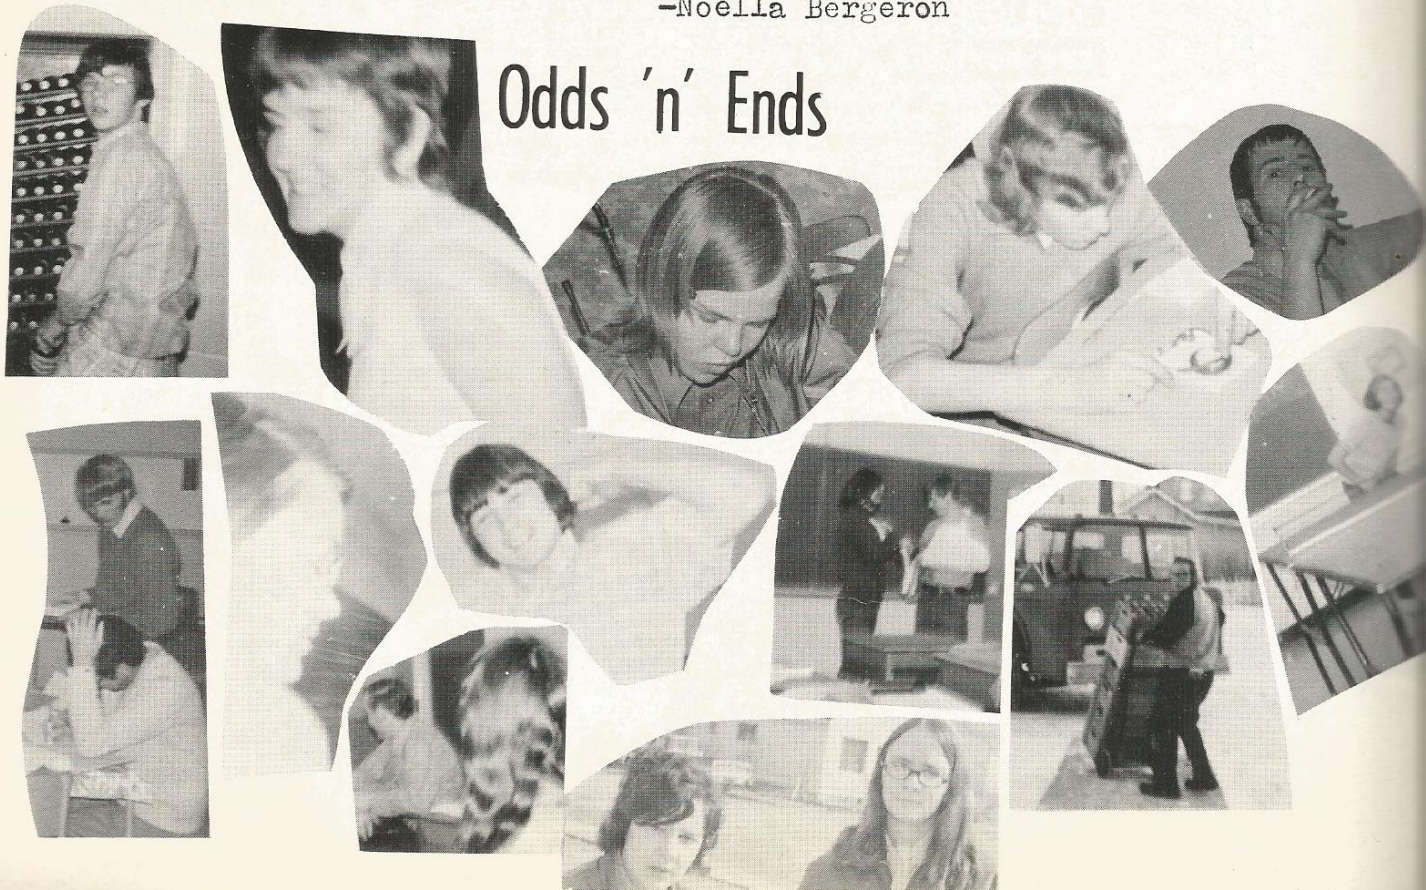

Pour nos parents et nos maitres qui nous ont encourage d'aller a l'ecole, nous allons toujours avoir une place dans notre coeur pour eux. Merci aussi a tous ceux et celles qui ont si bien prepare les decorations pour notre graduation. Ils ont du travailler beaucoup pour faire ce jour memorable pour nous. J'espere que l'esprit de travailler ensemble restera dans notre ecole longtemps.

Aux etudiants, nous avons un seul message: "Ne decourage vous pas. Travailler fort et vous serez recompenser."

Et, finalement, a chacun de vous, chers amis, au revoir.

VOLLEYBALL

Our volleyball team has a most interesting history but of course it will not all be available for reading. The previous year, the girls volleyball team trampled into the gym for our first practise. Surprisingly, our coach, Mr. J. Cantwell never so much as showed us a volleyball, but a numerous amount of back-breaking exercises. These continued for a few practises and then we were allowed to start playing volleyball, only after ten laps around the gym. We even managed to make Mr. Cantwell smile when we won a few games, that season. But time passes fastly and so did the volleyball season.

This year we all looked forward to our first volleyball practice and those lovely exercises, which according to Mr. Cantwell, would also improve our figures. As the door to the gym was opened we were surprised to see a lady coach, Miss H. Briere at our service and a different season. We deservingly won a few games and found the season soon over. I would like to thank the girls for voting me captain for the last two years.

A message: Girls keep those volleyball suits in use.

Freshie Day '72

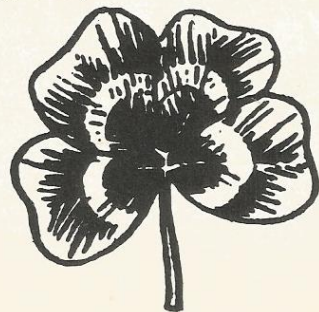

Odds 'n' Ends

Freshie Day

Well, it was that time of year- a time which all the Grade Nine feared. It was "Freshie Day". To show our protest, we Grade Nine began by locking the bullyish Grade Twelve out of the classroom. But it was to no avail as they eventually forced their way in. Once they were in, they performed the traditional "marking" and "sprucing" up job on our appearances; much to our displeasure. After this we began our ceremonious parade down main street, parading and showing off our supposedly hilarious costumes. At this point, we tried to do all the jobs our seniors prepared for us; jobs like washing the sidewalk with a toothbrush, counting the number of tissues in a roll of toilet paper and begging money for the poor. If we didn't do these things, we would be punished in Kangaroo Court, or so we thought. We did all the jobs that we were told to do but we still were punished by tasting foul liquids and worse yet facing the electric chair.

Although we did these many things, many of which we didn't like, we had lots of fun and I'm sure most of us realized by passing into High School, we also were completing another phase of our life.
